

What Comes Next? (Page 1)

Take a close look at the sequence of ice lollies and try to identify the pattern. Once you have worked it out, cut out the ice lolly that you think comes next on page three and stick it down.

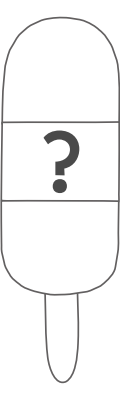

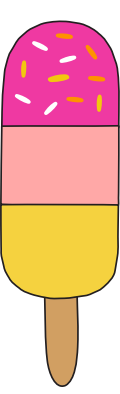

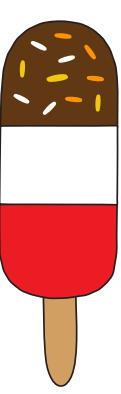

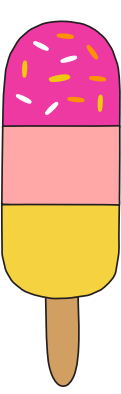

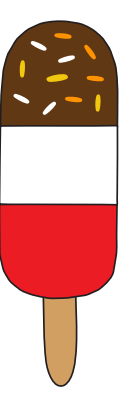

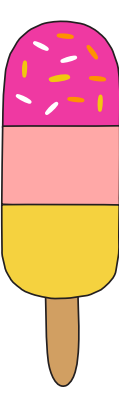

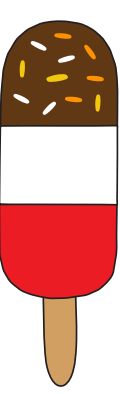

1.

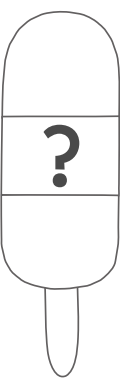

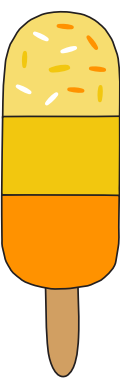

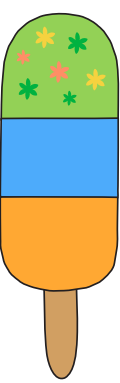

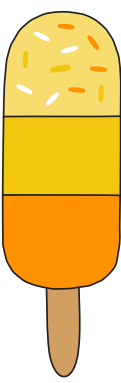

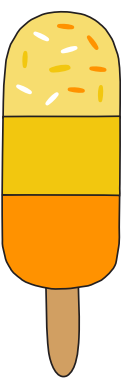

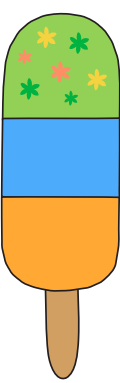

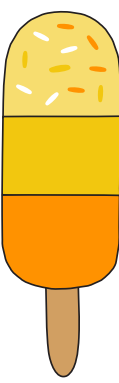

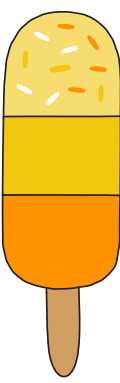

2.

3.

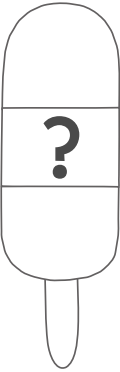

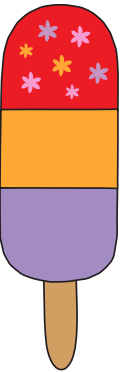

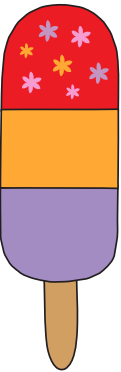

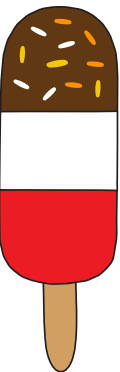

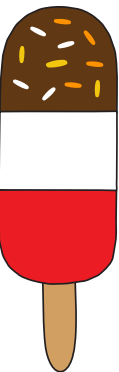

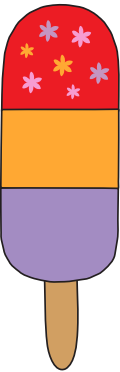

4.

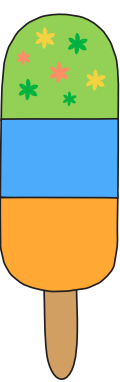

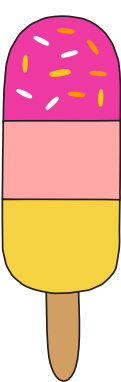

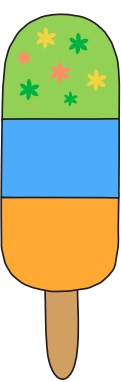

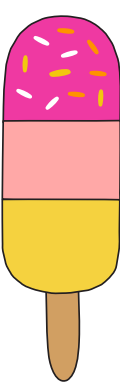

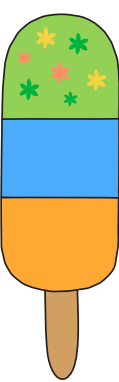

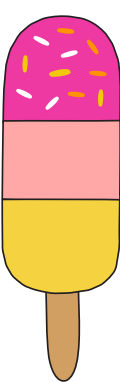

What Comes Next? (Page 2)

Take a close look at the sequence of ice lollies and try to identify the pattern. Once you have worked it out, cut out the ice lolly that you think comes next on page three and stick it down.

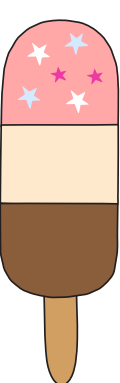

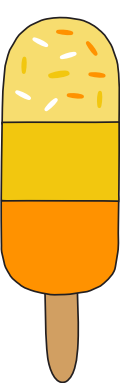

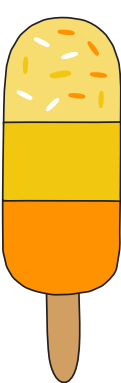

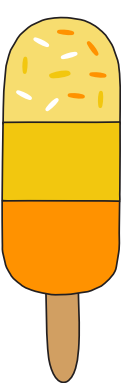

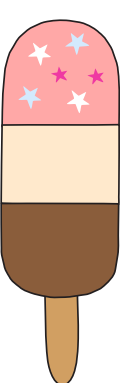

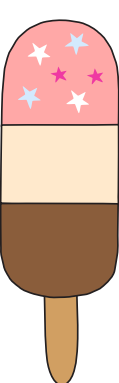

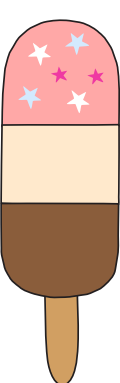

5.

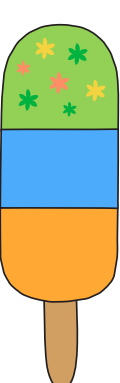

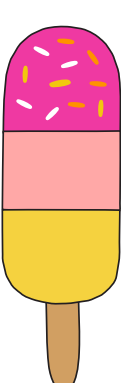

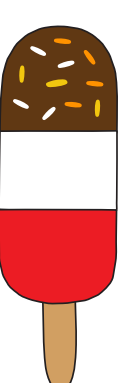

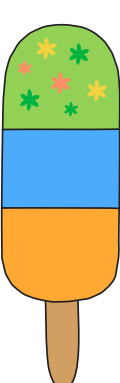

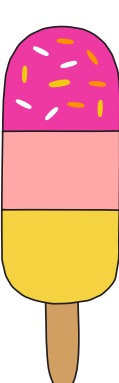

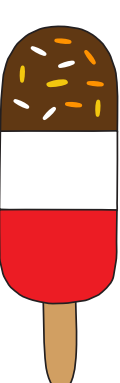

6.

7.

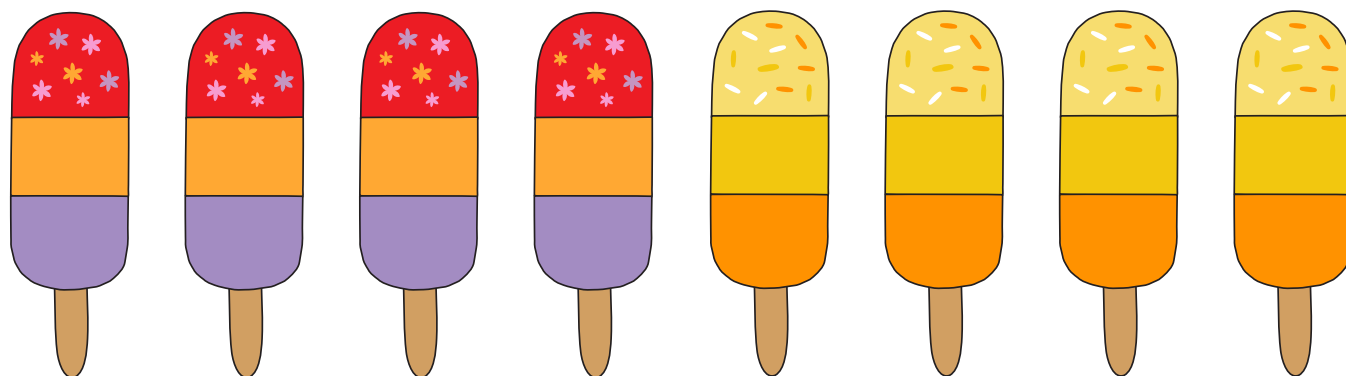

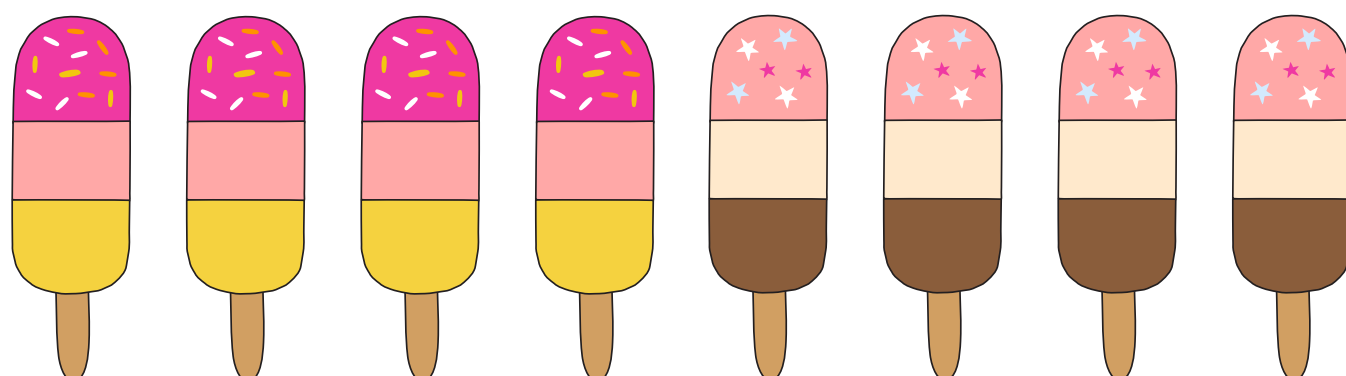

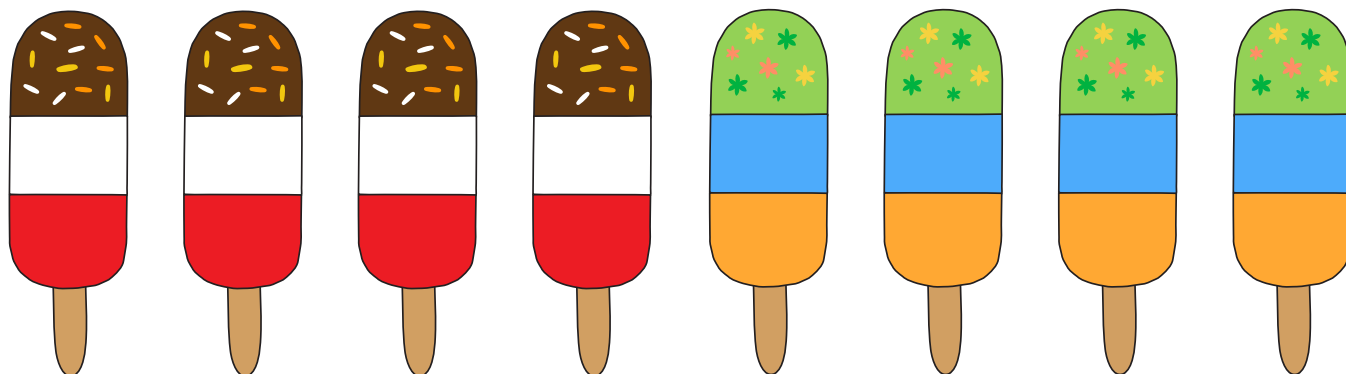

8.

What Comes Next? (Page 3)

Cut out these ice lollies to use as your answers. Stick the ice lolly you think is the correct one in the empty space to complete the pattern.

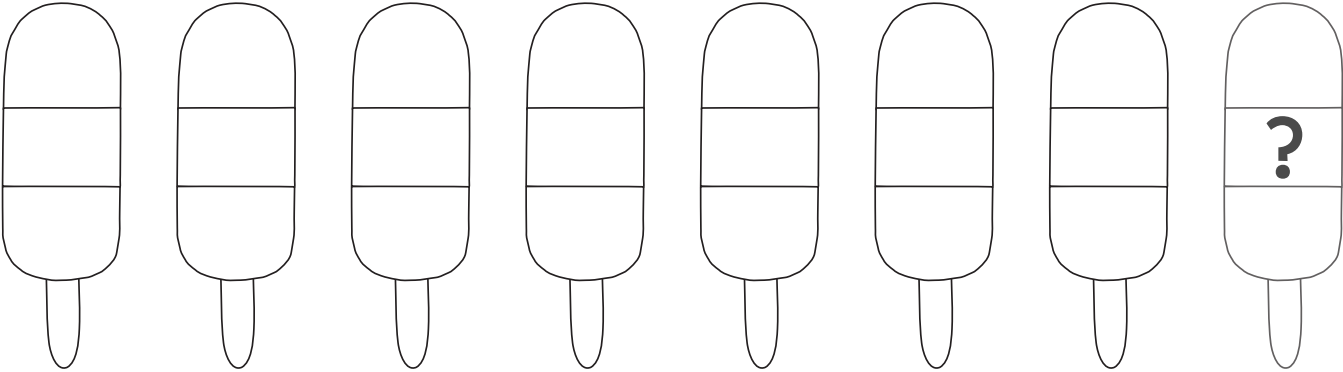

Here's an idea!

Why not try making the ice lollies in this resource for real using fruit to achieve the different colours? For example, strawberry for red etc.

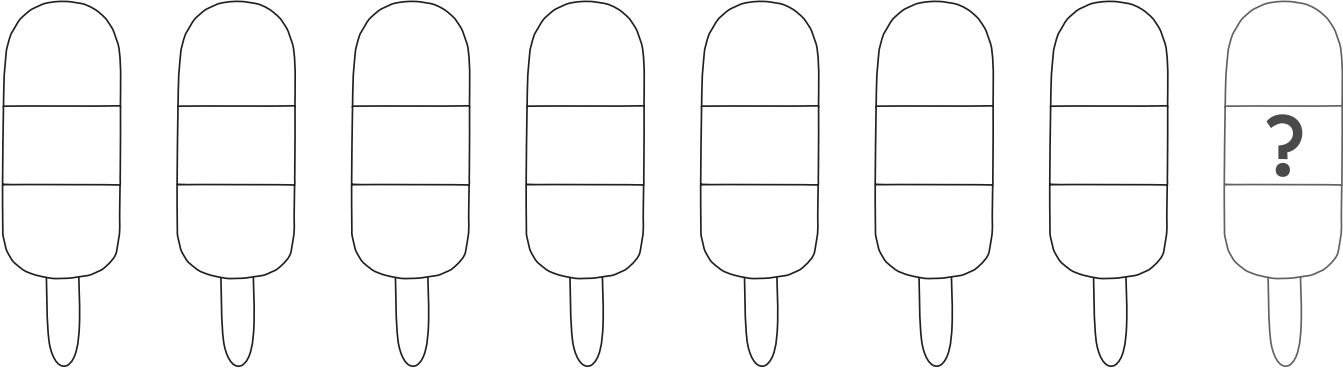

What Comes Next? (Page 4)

Now have a go at coming up with your own ice lolly patterns to test a friend or family member! Use the blank ice lolly outlines below to get started.

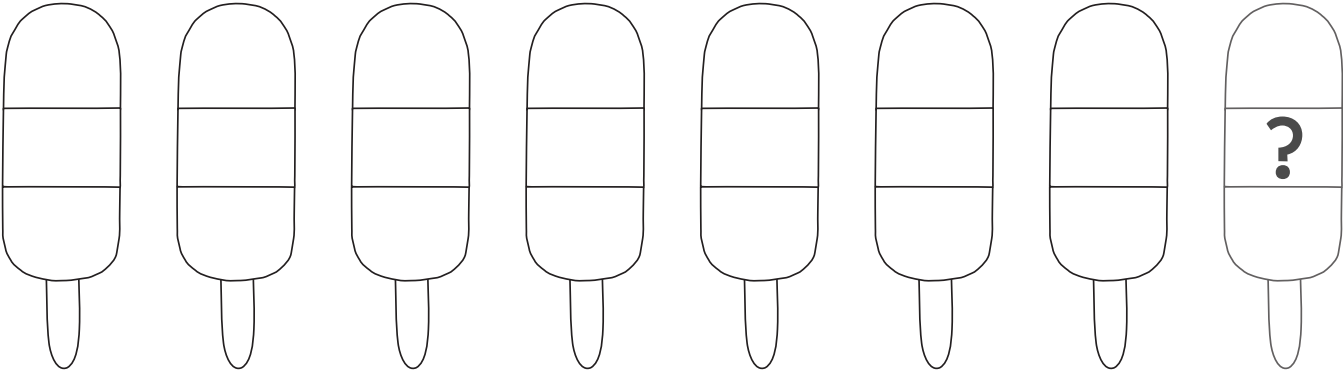

1.

A row of eight ice lolly outlines. Each lolly is divided into three horizontal sections by two lines. The first seven lollies are identical. The eighth lolly has a question mark in its middle section.

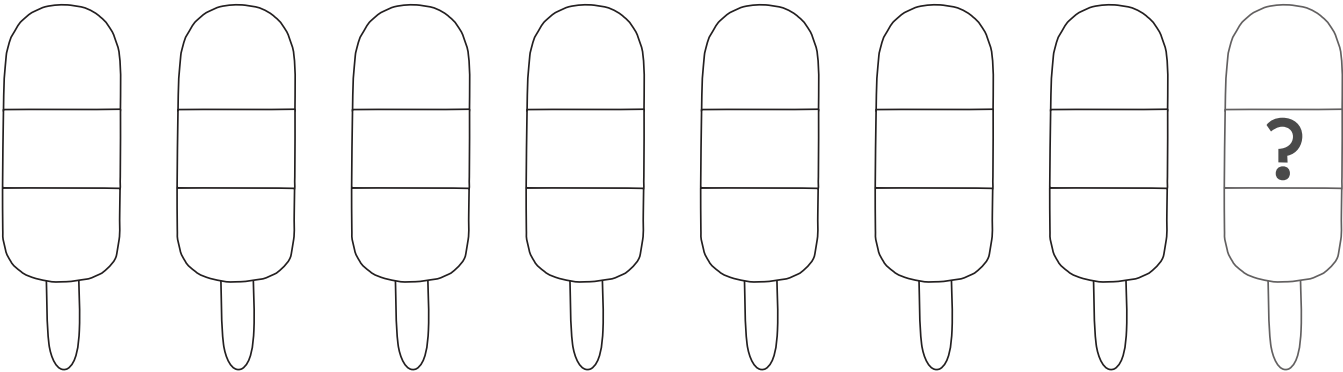

2.

A row of eight ice lolly outlines. Each lolly is divided into three horizontal sections by two lines. The first seven lollies are identical. The eighth lolly has a question mark in its middle section.

3.

A row of eight ice lolly outlines. Each lolly is divided into three horizontal sections by two lines. The first seven lollies are identical. The eighth lolly has a question mark in its middle section.

4.

A row of eight ice lolly outlines. Each lolly is divided into three horizontal sections by two lines. The first seven lollies are identical. The eighth lolly has a question mark in its middle section.