

Play a team game matching straws into one big line

When a butterfly emerges from the chrysalis, the two halves of its proboscis join together. In two teams, find as many straws of the same colour as you can from around the room and then join them into one long straw. Make the game harder by giving yo

Activity Type

